Re: Our File No. P-3999-G

Dear Jerry:

Please conduct a patentability search for a string of beads worn as a necklace (and possibly a bracelet) that dispenses with the typical male and female connectors at opposite ends.

As shown in Fig. 1, the string is 27 inches long, and has alternate magnetized metal beads (orange) and crystal beads (yellow), which are wrapped about the user's neck (Fig. 3), wherein the plus and negative charges (Fig. 2) of the magnetized beads attach to each other and thus maintain the helical turns (typically three) in the wrap without the use of end male and female connectors.

Yours very truly,

MYRON AMER
